On 7 October the Palestinian Islamic organization Hamas launched a major attack on Israel with rockets and other weapons. In response, Israel also began to retaliate. The previous month, on 19 September Azerbaijan launched an "anti-terrorist operation" against Nagorno-Karabakh, a disputed territory between Azerbaijan and its neighbor Armenia. The next day, Azerbaijani President Ilham Aliyev declared that sovereignty had been restored in the region. Military clashes with many deaths have broken out in two regions (the Middle East and the Caucasus) where conflicts had been in stalemate for many years. And they create more tension and conflict in the world.

[1] Xi Jinping planned to make "de-poverty," the elimination of the poor population in rural areas and elsewhere, his "historic legacy" in time for the 100th anniversary of the founding of the Chinese Communist Party (CCP) in July 2021. And indeed, Xi declared "total victory" in February of the that year. However, then Chinese Premier Li Keqiang denied Xi's claim of "de-poverty" at a press conference at the National People's Congress last May, insisting that "in our country, 600 million people have a monthly income of about 1000 yuan (about USD 140 at current exchange rates)."
